

Design of Steady Sobriety - Layout/Hierarchy

Hierarchy

- We made sure that there is one and only one h1 element on the page at any given time when the users use the Steady Sobriety App. All h1 elements appear semantically and visually before h2 elements.
- Subparts (like individual resources or leaderboard/drinking history) are headed with h2 elements. Since our app structure is relatively simple, the only h3 elements appear in the InstructionPopover components and are after h1 or h2 elements.
- There are no h4-h6 elements.

Layout

- We made sure all important elements, including titles, important messages, buttons, etc. are salient enough by sizing and coloring.
- All parts of the page are arranged so that the importance goes from top-left to bottom-right.
- We made sure all elements are properly aligned (such as main introduction/main photo on intro screen and drinking history/leaderboard in dashboard) and spaced (relevant elements together like drinking history and record drinking are close together; different parts (like main intro and authors' contact info) are separated with proper space).
